

The University of Santo Tomas Lupus Study Group had a meeting and series of mini-workshops last September 16-17, 2017 at Bayleaf Hotel Intramuros, Manila.

The first day included a meeting on the status of different researches on SLE of the recently graduated fellows and fellows-in-training along with finalization of manuscripts of these researches. It also included mini workshops on better data capture for SLE patients of UST Rheumatology Section. The workshops discussed lupus database format, data collection and recording; revision of lupus flow sheet; and transition SLE patients from pediatrics to adult.

The UST lupus study group then held a culmination meeting the following day to summarize what has transpired and discussed on the workshops and what to accomplish in the future.
